Nancy Lefenfeld

Nancy Lefenfeld is an independent scholar who, over the past two decades, has researched, written, and spoken extensively on the subject of Jewish humanitarian resistance in France during the Second World War. Her particular area of focus has been the smuggling of Jewish children from France into Switzerland carried out by a group of young adults that was a part of the Mouvement de jeunesse sioniste (MJS) (Zionist Youth Movement). Her book, The Fate of Others: Rescuing Jewish Children on the French-Swiss Border appeared in 2013 and was subsequently translated into French and published under the title Le Sort des Autres: Le sauvetage des enfants juifs à la frontière franco-suisse (2016). Nan also authored Chapter 5 (“Unarmed Combat: Jewish Humanitarian Resistance in France during the Shoah”) of Jewish Resistance Against the Nazis, edited by Patrick Henry (2014). Additionally, her articles have appeared in The Hidden Child, a publication of the Hidden Child Foundation/ADL, and in Prism: An Interdisciplinary Journal for Holocaust Educators, a publication of Yeshiva University – Azrieli Graduate School of Jewish Education and Administration. She has often presented the findings of her work at conferences of Holocaust survivors and descendants as well as in academic settings.

She has also utilized the medium of short fiction to explore challenges confronted by child survivors of the Shoah who, much later in life, struggle to better comprehend the nature of what they endured in childhood and the losses they experienced. Her fiction writing has been informed by treasured relationships with child survivors living in the United States, France, and elsewhere. One such short story, entitled “The Deep End of the Pool,” was published in Issue 22 (Spring 2019) of JewishFiction.net.

These include an award for excellence in Diaspora reportage in the Israeli media, a ceremony commemorating Jews who rescued fellow Jews during the Holocaust, a survey of Israeli attitudes towards Diaspora Jewry and sustained cooperation with humanitarian organizations to expand the scope of Israeli international humanitarian projects. He serves as coordinator of B'nai B'rith's delegation to the National Institutions and is a founding member of "IsraAID" - The Israel Forum for International Humanitarian Aid - under which he has participated in missions to humanitarian hotspots including Myanmar, Chad, Kenya, Georgia, Haiti, Japan and Sri Lanka.

He publishes articles and reports in B'nai B'rith's international magazine and web-based publications, and has addressed numerous international B'nai B'rith gatherings on issues pertaining to Israeli foreign and internal policy, Israeli humanitarian activities and Diaspora-Israel relations. Schneider is a founding member of two international Holocaust memorial projects: "Unto Every Person There is a Name" and of "The Committee to Recognize Jews who Rescued Jews During the Holocaust" and initiated the "Jewish Rescuers Citation" and the "Jews Rescuing Jews" Forum at Bar-Ilan University's Finkler Institute of Holocaust Research and coordinates the Forum.

Dr. Laurence Schram

Dr. Laurence Schram is Senior Researcher at Kazerne Dossin and scientific collaborator at the Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB). Laurence Schram holds a degree in Political Science and International Relations and a PhD in History from the ULB. She specializes in the history of the Shoah in Belgium and northern France, and wrote her doctorate about the history of the SS assembly camp established in the Dossin barracks. Her original research has been awarded two prizes: the Natan Ramet Prize in 2016 and the Jacques Rozenberg Prize – Fondation Auschwitz in 2016. She published the book Dossin – l’antichambre d’Auschwitz (2017) and its translation into Dutch (2018).

She took part in the design and creation of the Jewish Museum of Deportation and Resistance (1995), contributed to the renovation of the Belgian Exhibition in Auschwitz (2006) and the creation of the new Kazerne Dossin Museum (2012).

She published numerous studies on various aspects of racial persecution in Belgium and northern France. In 2009, together with Maxime Steinberg, she published a new memorial to the racial deportation from the Dossin Barracks (Mecheln-Auschwitz 1942–1944) (dir. Ward Adriaens, 4 vols., VUB-Press). In 2015, she contributed to the memorial of Belgian Jews deported from France (Drancy-Auschwitz, dir. Pr. Herman Van Goethem).

She also regularly takes part in national or international research projects. From 2017 to 2019, on the occasion of the commemoration of the 75th years of the deportations, she produced a series of articles retracing the routes of deportees for each of the deportation convoys. As co-curator of the upcoming exhibition ‘Fake Images’ (Oct. 2020), her current research focuses on antisemitism and negationism.

Dorien Styven

Dorien Styven is an archivist at Kazerne Dossin – Memorial, Museum and Research Center on Holocaust and Human Rights, Mechelen, Belgium. Born in Belgium in 1987, she obtained her MA in Contemporary History at KU Leuven (Catholic University of Leuven) in 2009 and her Master in the Arts of Archival Sciences at the Free University of Brussels in 2019. She started working as a researcher at Kazerne Dossin in 2010, and was involved in the creation of the museum exhibition on the racial persecution in Belgium. She also curated the exhibition “Liberation! Belgians in German camps” in 2015.

At Kazerne Dossin she is project manager for the Give them a Face project which collects portraits of Jewish deportees from Belgium. She coordinates the archival work at Kazerne Dossin as project manager for the portal website collaborating with Mémorial de la Shoah (France), Commemoration Center Kamp Westerbork (the Netherlands) and the USHMM. Focusing strongly on digital humanities, she represents Kazerne Dossin in international networks such as the Digital Research Infrastructure for the Arts and Humanities (DARIAH) where she is co-president of the Working Group on Sustainable Publishing of Metadata.

She has published articles on the rescue of adults and children by the Jewish Defense Committee in Belgium, on the connection between the Jewish resistance and the Jewish Council in Belgium and on the history of hidden children and their post-war organization. She is co-author of Drancy-Auschwitz, 1942-1944. Jews from Belgium, deported from France (2015) and has published blog contributions on archival practices applied at Kazerne Dossin, including digital humanities subjects such as the implementation of online collection publication tools created by the European Holocaust Research Infrastructure (EHRI).

Prof. Raymond Sun

Prof. Raymond (“Ray”) Sun is a graduate of Swarthmore College who received his PhD in modern German history from the Johns Hopkins University in 1992. He is an associate professor of history at Washington State University (Pullman, WA) where he has been since 1991. His research and teaching interests center on issues of war and society, memory of war and genocide, comparative genocide, the Holocaust, and especially Holocaust rescue. He is attempting to establish a Holocaust and genocide concentration at WSU, and his personal research is a case study of a female, Jewish rescuer in the Netherlands under German occupation.”

Lawrence Tallentire

Lawrence Tallentire is a born-and-bred Mancunian (from the city of Manchester, UK). Graduated in law from Nottingham University, UK, and then practised in contentious law in private practice until 1996 when he took a "sabbatical" to study Dutch at Leiden University, the Netherlands, for a year that has somehow continued. He now lives in Antwerp, Belgium, where he work as a self-employed translator and copywriter.

During his time at Leiden he was able to develop ideas that had interested him for very many years. For example, a course on Marxist law at Nottingham University had introduced him to the idea of Samizdat literature as a form of resistance to oppression. At Leiden he came across the name of Leo Frijda, a Dutch Jewish resistance fighter who wrote poetry in an underground literary magazine and who also played a significant role in the Dutch resistance in a 'fight to the death'. Leo's character enabled him to explore many important themes: the nature of courage and 'heroism'; creative self-expression as a form of dissent; and the determination not to 'toe the line' and to stay true to oneself, particularly to one's Jewish heritage. In other words: an exploration of the psychology of someone who resisted. The necessary years of research culminated in 2018 in his biography of Leo Frijda, a hero of the Dutch resistance, which he has recently revised.

Prof. Lori Weintrob
